

News-Media 2005 as reflected in Duodecameron

In Duodecameron, several larger and smaller incidents are referred, that should not have been possible in a modern civilized society, in which the State is a construct to the benefit of its citizens and not reverse. What otherwise did happen is illustrated, partly in my essays, partly in some Internet-sources (mainstream media and blogs). It is my purpose here to give a survey.

In several chapters, the events of 9/11 are given primary attention. I have collected reports in Who were Responsible for 9/11 but the resultant description proved too complex for many to read, so I collected some aspects in shorter articles, e.g. Reconstructing 9/11 - Five Years Later and Shanksville and Cleveland on 9/11 . But why not begin your doubt-seeking action with the humorous Hunt the Boeing from a time where most of us were still hypnotized by skyscraper attacking planes?
